Opportunities for Mathematicians in Industry and Government Research

Mike Lazaridis
Research in Motion
mike@rim.net

I will be talking broadly about the opportunities for Mathematicians in Industry and Government Research. Specifically, I will speak about the amazing physics experiments and engineering happening at CERN in Geneva and SNO in Sudbury, Ontario; as well as some of the exciting developments in Communications Technology.